

Abstract of the Disclosure

An insulation material made from a plurality of layers of material having inserts being inserted therebetween with the layers being bound together maintaining the inserts in place with the inserts being taken from a variety of materials and of a variety of shapes.

5